Friends of Dunes trail, restoration approved

Daniel Mintz
MAD RIVER UNION

MANILA – Several years into a county process, trail access and restoration work proposed by Friends of the Dunes (FOD) has been given a go-ahead.

At its Aug. 29 meeting, the county's Planning Commission unanimously approved an expansion of FOD's permit for a 3.6-acre area known as the Barr Property.

Adjacent to the group's Coastal Nature Center in Manila, the now-gated property will be opened for trail use and be manually restored in a lengthy volunteer-driven effort.

A written county staff report says "unauthorized trail routes" exist now but they'll be closed and restored.

Trail use will be directed to two of the most often-used routes. A trailhead off Lupin Avenue will be established and one of the trails will give hikers and

$376K contract for McK BMX park set

Jack Durham

McKINLEYVILLE – A Chico company may receive a $375,986 contract to design a BMX track and park in McKinleyville.

The McKinleyville Community Services District Board of Directors is scheduled to vote on the contract at its meeting Wednesday, Sept. 7. The board meets at 7 p.m. at Azalea Hall, 1620 Pickett Rd. In McKinleyville. The hybrid meeting can also be viewed on Zoom. The Zoom ID is 859 4543 6653. The phone number is 1 (888) 788-0099.

The BMX track and park is proposed for a vacant, three-acre parcel of land owned by the MCSD along School Road just west of Washington Avenue.

The district sent out a request for proposals in June, and received three of them back at the end of July. District staff ranked the proposals and gave Chico-based Melton Design Group Inc. the top score.

Under the contract, Melton Design Group would meet with BMX experts to create the track design. It will hold public meetings on that design and the park design. It will create plans for electricity, water lines, irrigation systems, fencing, landscaping, paving and everything else that goes into the park. The company would also create all the construction documents.

In the spring, the MCSD received a $2,331,375 state grant to design and build the track and park.

McK CSD looking at water, sewer rate hikes

Jack Durham
MAD RIVER UNION

McKINLEYVILLE – In an effort to keep up with inflation and pay for upgrades, the McKinleyville Community Services District is proposing to increase its sewer and water rates.

As part of that process, the MCSD Board of Directors will meet Wednesday, Sept. 7 to hear a financial report on the rate increases.

The board meets at 7 p.m. at Azalea Hall, 1620 Pickett Rd. In McKinleyville. The hybrid meeting can also be viewed on Zoom. The Zoom ID is 859 4543 6653. The phone number is 1 (888) 788-0099.

The district is proposing raising the rates each year for the next five years, with the first increase taking effect in January 2023.

For a typical single-family home that uses 600 cubic feet of water per month, the combined sewer and water bill would increase by $6.68 a month, from the current rate of $93.63 to $100.31 starting in January 2023.

That rate would be $104.89 in 2024, $110.41 in 2025, $115.86 in 2026 and $121.12 in 2026.

For that typical customer, the total increase over

Unpermitted PG&E facility stymies county

Jack Durham
MAD RIVER UNION

McKINLEYVILLE – A Pacific Gas and Electric (PG&E) permit denial appeal hasn't yielded decisive results and the Board of Supervisors has directed the company to pursue alternatives to its project.

Last July, the county's Planning Commission denied a permit for a Trinidad area PG&E electrical distribution facility.

The long distance telephone is now through from San Francisco to Scotia. Superintendent McLaren talked to two people in Santa Rosa on Tuesday. The phone transmitted the sounds so accurately that a person walking across the room in Santa Rosa was heard in Scotia. In a few weeks, Mr. Bell of the Trinidad manufacturing company will be able to ring up a steamship office in Portland, Oregon and ask the agent to have the steamer stop in Trinidad on its way down and take on shingles.

The big 2022 Grind & Inlay Project is at hand

CITY OF ARCATA
ARCATA – The City of Arcata has contracted with Kernen Construction to repave portions of the city's roads for the 2022 Grind & Inlay Project.

Work areas will include sections of 10th Street between N and F streets, Samoa Boulevard from the U.S. Highway 101 Overpass to Union Street, and the L.K. Wood Boulevard and Sunset Avenue intersection.

Construction is scheduled to begin on the evening of Tuesday, Sept. 6. For all three locations, this work is scheduled at night from 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. Work on the first location will begin on Tuesday evening at the intersection of L.K. Wood Boulevard and Sunset Avenue.

Work on the second location is scheduled to begin on Wednesday, Sept. 7 along sections of 10th Street between N and F streets. Work on the final location is anticipated to begin on Monday, Sept. 19 with work taking place along Samoa Boulevard between Union Street and the U.S. Highway 101 overpass. There will be one-way controlled traffic and flaggers present along the work areas. Full road closures may occur intermittently on portions of 10th Street after the hours of 10 p.m.

Motorists traveling along roads adjacent to work areas should anticipate delays and plan accordingly. We apologize for any inconvenience that the work may cause during the project. During this scheduled work, community members are encouraged to follow all safety directions and traffic control devices within the project areas. We understand that lane closures can be stressful and we appreciate the community's patience while our streets are being repaired.

If problems are encountered with this project, please contact the City of Arcata at (707) 825-2174 or Kernen Construction directly at (707) 826-8686. Updates on construction progress and project plans can be viewed at cityofarcata.org.

RUN IN THE REDWOODS Get ready for the 9th Annual Run in the Redwoods 5K scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 1 at Prairie Creek Redwoods State Park. Registration starts at 8:30 a.m. and closes at 9:45 a.m.; the run/walk starts at 10 a.m. Be sure to stay for the fabulous prize drawing immediately following the run. Both runners and walkers alike are invited to attend – or sign up as a virtual runner! The in-person event is limited to the first 200 participants. To register, visit Redwood Parks Conservancy at redwoodparksconservancy.org. ## ❖ Correction

Last week's article on Marge Adams' garden at Sixth and I streets included a headline that said that her garden was recognized by the Smithsonian, which is incorrect. Work has begun on documenting and taking photos of the garden through the seasons for submission to the Smithsonian Institution's Archives of American Gardens through a sponsoring garden club, but it was far from complete, when Marge died. If Marge were still living and gardening, and the documentation completed, it is likely that next year the headline would have been accurate

Cal-SOAP College & Career Expo coming to CR

EUREKA— North Coast Cal-SOAP (Student Opportunity and Access Program) of the Humboldt County Office of Education is pleased to announce an exciting and important local educational event for all high school students and parents.

The 38th Annual North Coast College & Career Expo is Tuesday, Sept. 13 at College of the Redwoods beginning at 5:30 p.m. at 7351 Tompkins Hill Rd., Eureka.

The College & Career Expo is designed for 9th through 12th grade students and parents who want to learn more about preparing for and applying to colleges, universities, trade schools, and how to pay for higher education.

Historically, over 1,000 people attend this event. More than 50 public and private college, university, trade school, career pathways and military recruiters will be in-person to provide information and to answer specific questions regarding admission requirements, tuition, housing, academic options, and campus life.

This event is the only college fair in Humboldt County and provides an opportunity for families to compare different educational options in a one-stop-shop since many of these campuses are over 5 hours away and can be a challenge to visit each one individually.

The evening will include 10 different workshops with something for everyone: foundational workshops for freshman and sophomores – College Planning 101 and Understanding the Different College Systems: California Community Colleges, the California State University and the University of California.

The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) begins on October 1, so seniors should plan to attend the financial aid workshops to understand the necessary steps to obtain priority funding.

For athletes interested in playing in college, there will be a special workshop on NCAA requirements and eligibility. Hear about career technical education options from College of the Redwoods, local trades, and more.

The goal of this event is to increase the rates of regional high school students who are qualified for and attend post-secondary educational programs such as college, university, vocational programs, and trade schools.

Promoting a community wide college-going culture is just one of the strategies used to achieve this goal. The College & Career Expo aims to increase our local students' knowledge of options for their futures and provide relevant information to help answer questions related to post-secondary education.

The College and Career Expo is a fast-paced, jam-packed event. Visit hcoe.org/ccx for a complete list of confirmed reps, workshops and times, and information on how to prepare for the event to get the most out of it.

Contact Rebecca Asbury at (707) 441-2006 or at rasbury@hcoe.org for more information.

McKINLEYVILLE COMMUNITY CHOIR The McKinleyville Community is a non-profit organization that gives free seasonal concerts to the public. It is directed by Jon Reisdorf. The choir originated in the early 2000s in McKinleyville. However, members hail from Trinidad to Eureka and beyond. If you like to sing, please join us. Reading music or any prior experience is not necessary. You just need to carry a tune to join our “music family.” Sheet music and CDs are available for practice. Besides singing, we welcome members who play a variety of instruments. Accompany the singers with a guitar, sax, violin, drums or any other instrument. Also, try your hand at being a soloist. The choir could use volunteers willing to help with photography, graphics or writing skills. Rehearsals are every Thursday evening from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Lutheran Church of Arcata at 151 E. 16th Street, close to the college campus. To join or volunteer contact Clare at ccgreene46@gmail.com or call (831) 419-3247.

ROADSIDE INSTALLATION The project. VIA COUNTY OF HUMBOLDT

PG&E | Patrick’s Point Drive

The company seeks an “after the fact” Coastal Development Permit for the facility, which is about 1.2 miles from the intersection of Patrick’s Point Drive and Sea-wood Drive.

PG&E installed the facility’s power poles and voltage regulators in 2016. The company got a right-of-way en- croachment permit from the county but neglected to ap- ply for a Coastal Development Permit

Now the company wants to move a pole that’s too close to a private driveway entrance, replace two 45-foot- tall poles with 55-foot poles, install a new 55-foot pole and relocate three voltage regulators.

The commission wants the company to relocate the facility farther from the Patrick’s Point scenic area, con- tain the regulators in utility boxes or underground the system.

PG&E reps didn’t attend the commission hearings but they were at the Board of Supervisors’ Aug. 30 appeal hearing.

Alison Talbott of PG&E said the facility’s purpose is to “improve reliability and voltage conditions” for power customers in Trinidad, Orick and Big Lagoon.

PG&E Environmental Planner Cuyler Stapelmann told commissioners that when nearby substations are shut down for maintenance, power is rerouted to lines along Patrick’s Point Drive and the voltage regulators fa- cilitate it.

The regulators also provide continuation of power during emergencies.

Stapelmann told commissioners the company looked for other locations along the route but they were ruled out due to being within the mapped scenic area and con- flicts with trees or structures.

Undergrounding was described as being unfeasible. During a public comment period, Jeff Guttero said he returned from an out-of-town trip six years ago and “found this monstrosity next to my driveway.”

He said the “massive utility installation” is “out of place anywhere on Patrick’s Point Drive.”

County Senior Planner Cliff Johnson had told super- visors that although the facility is just outside of a mapped scenic area, coastal development rules on them also ap- ply to adjacent locations.

He had also said PG&E hasn’t shown that the facility can’t be undergrounded.

The power system is in Supervisor Steve Madrone’s district and his house is in the area.

He said PG&E could’ve done things better and more economically if it had applied for a permit in 2016.

“And lately, at the Planning Commission and in the county, we’re seeing this forgiveness versus permission approach to things and I frankly have a problem with that,” Madrone continued.

But the importance of the facility weighed on super- visors’ minds and when asked what would happen if the appeal is denied, Planning Director John Ford said it can ultimately be advanced to the California Public Utilities Commission.

If the appeal fails at the top level, the facility would have to be removed, Ford continued.

Madrone made a motion to both deny the appeal but consider alternatives.

He soon made a follow-up motion that took out the “deny the appeal” part and directed PG&E to work with planning staff on various alternatives.

When Talbot said the company believes the existing facility is “genuinely the best way to handle this,” Ma- drone said “the current installation as it sits today is not what we’re looking for.”

Supervisors approved Madrone’s motion in a 4-1 vote, with Supervisor Mike Wilson dissenting.

The life and times of Hank, co-writer and best bud

Last week I lost my favorite co-writer and best bud Hank. Hank lived a good long life and passed away peacefully at home. His story is the story of rescue dogs everywhere.

We don’t know anything about Hank’s earliest days (though I bet he was a very cute little puppy). He appeared at the county shelter when he was a little over a year old.

Many dogs at shelters are between 10 months and two years old; no longer cute puppies but not perfectly well-trained and calm either. The teens can be challenging for dogs too!

Hank was adopted and returned three times in about two weeks, described as too energetic, too excitable, ball-driven and mouthy. The first two adopters barely kept him

Hank (and later me) rescuers found a foster home for him to get him out and keep him safe.

Hank’s foster mom Amanda put his photo in the Arcata Eye, where I saw it just as my last dog Dusty was nearing the end of his days. Something about Hank caught my eye and I remembered him when we were ready for another dog.

We met him on a summer afternoon. My old girl Dinah didn’t particularly like him and we weren’t really sure what we thought about this energetic ball-chasing boy but it seemed wrong to lead him on and then let him down again. On the summer solstice of 2008 we took him home.

I lost count of how many people told me that Hank was sure lucky that we ad-overnight before bringing him back to the shelter. The third person discovered that she was facing a serious illness and returned him as she didn’t think she could take on a dog at that time.

Poor Hank undoubtedly found all that confusing. He was deemed unadoptable and put on the list to be euthanized. Fortunately for opted him, always with the implication that you’d have to be crazy to bring a dog like him into your life. But we learned to love him despite many trials along the way.

There was no more free-feeding after Hank came along. He had an amazing ability to find things he shouldn’t eat, including half of a 25-pound bag of dog food, two pounds of raisins, bags of chocolate chips and many, many sandwiches left un- guarded by the teenagers that frequented our house after school on their way to rowing practice.

Hydrogen peroxide became a staple in our pantry, both for inducing vomiting and removing skunk spray.

than I could pedal on my bike, he was a graceful athlete with endless stamina.

My family has done the Kinetic Sculpture race since before Hank was born. When Hank joined our family he would participate by camping out with us on the course and swimming out into the river when they left the Arcata Ball Park.

In 2016, my family

BEST DOG Hank.

But Hank wasn’t all trouble. We can’t remember him ever meeting a dog that he didn’t like. Our elderly Dinah seemed to perk up after Hank joined us and two years later when Lily came to us as a starving stray, they became great adventure buddies.

I didn’t officially enter the rescue world until 2012, when I started volunteering and fostering dogs. Hank welcomed each foster into our house and made them feel comfortable.

He also became my helper with dogs at the shelter. We could test dogs out with him and he could give me an accurate read on how they were with other dogs.

He was personally responsible for saving the lives of many rescue dogs. Even in his last days, he would perk up and want to play with dogs we met on our walks!

Hank was a great companion for our family. He amazed us with his ability to fly through the air to catch a frisbee, dive off a dock into the water, collect the dog bowls at dinner time and bring them to me, or curl up into a basket of clean laundry.

He was always willing to go on adventures. From his first kayak trip (we all got wet) to skiing in the Trinity Alps to pulling me faster turned their kinetic sculpture into Sparky the Kinetic Foster Dog.

The sculpture was modeled on Hank and every year he went to the Plaza for the start, wearing his “I’m with Sparky” vest and accompanied by adoptable dogs from Redwood Pals and the county shelter.

We were glad he had one more pass with the sculpture this year even though with all of his grey he no longer looked quite like the black and white Sparky. While following Sparky over the finish line in Fern- dale this year he did still stop to snatch up a bagel that had been dropped in the street. Chow hound to the end!

Hank was a good dog and we miss him a lot.

Hank’s story motivated me to find out more about shelter and rescue dogs. I hope if you are considering getting a dog that you will check out the adoptables from Redwood Pals or the Humboldt County Animal Shelter.

There are other rescues in our area doing good work also, though these are the ones that I work with. You can see the available dogs from these two groups at 24PetConnect.com.

You can always reach me at redwoodpalsrescue@gmail.com.

Rates | Public hearing set for Nov. 2 MCSD meeting five years would be $27.49.

Actual customer bills are determined by water usage, meter size and other factors.

The MCSD will hold a public hearing on the proposed increases on Tuesday, Nov. 2 at 7 p.m. at Azalea Hall, 1620 Pickett Rd., in McKinleyville.

A letter from the MCSD that will be sent to customers explains the protest process.

“Any owner or customer of record of a parcel subject to the proposed rates may submit a written protest against the proposed rate revisions. If written protests are filed for a majority of the affected parcels, the proposed rate revisions will not be adopted,” the letter states.

“In order for a written protest to be counted it must include the following: a statement indicating that the identified property owner or customer of record is in opposition to the proposed water or sewer rate changes; the street address or Assessor’s Parcel Number (APN) for the parcel(s) with respect to which the protest is made; and the name and signature of the owner or customer,” the letter states.

“Protests may be mailed to P.O. Box 2037, McKinleyville, CA 95519, hand delivered to the MCSD offices at 1656 Sutter Road, McKinleyville, California 95519, or hand delivered to the Board Secretary at the Public Hearing at Azalea Hall on November 2, 2022. To be valid, a signed written protest must be received by the Board Secretary before the conclusion of the Public Hearing. Any protest submitted via e-mail or other electronic means will not be accepted. Please identify on the front of the envelope for any written protest, whether mailed or submitted in person to the Board Secretary, that the enclosed protest is for the Public Hearing on the Proposed Rate Changes – Water and Sewer Service Fees.”

BROAD SHOULDERS McKinleyville’s Central Avenue was recently widened to achieve a minimum of five-feet of shoulder width from Bartow Road to Bella Vista Road. The County of Humboldt, which has jurisdiction over roads in the unincorporated community, contracted with Kernen Construction to complete the $259,999 project, which was paid for with California Department of Transportation’s State Improvement Program (STIP) funds. The next step is to stripe the roadway.

County supervisors consider tobacco clampdown

Daniel Mintz
MAD RIVER UNION

HUMBOLDT – Humboldt County supervisors are weighing health impacts against economic impacts as they consider creating an ordinance restricting and in some cases banning sales of tobacco products.

At its Aug. 16 meeting, the Board of Supervisors considered drafting a “tobacco retail licensing ordinance.” It would include the county’s unincorporated areas, not its cities.

Sofia Pereira, the county’s public health director, said an ordinance would target flavored tobacco products “first and foremost.”

Other provisions would be prohibiting sale of tobacco products within 600 feet of schools, not allowing a license if another is within 600 feet, banning tobacco sales in stores that have pharmacies and capping overall numbers of licenses by not automatically transferring them if store ownership changes.

Enforcement and administration would be paid for through license fees.

A licensing ordinance’s intent would be to protect public health but Supervisor Michelle Bushnell said stores falling under bans will be at a disadvantage if people who include tobacco products in their routine shopping lists can’t get them.

Pereira had talked about how easy it is for teenagers to get tobacco products, particularly vape and e-cigarette products. Supervisor Mike Wilson has heard a lot about that.

“My kids report, and I don’t think they’re giving me any information that other folks don’t already know, that the parking lots of the schools have all kinds of flavored products being vaped like crazy,” he said. “It’s nuts, it’s in the halls and it’s in the junior high bathrooms – and it’s really getting young people addicted to nicotine products very early and they absolutely are marketing to young adults and kids with these flavors.”

Wilson added that caps and banning sales of tobacco products near schools shouldn’t be controversial, and the other proposed restrictions are “reasonable.”

Supervisor Steve Madrone agreed. “I think our children come first,” he said. “I don’t feel all that great about a business that’s trying to survive off of getting our children addicted, frankly, and that’s exactly what’s happening with these flavored products.”

But Bushnell believes the school proximity restriction could impact businesses in the smaller communities of her district.

She said if there’s a lack of tobacco products in one store, people will go to another for overall shopping trips.

“I don’t want businesses in my district to be hurt by this,” Bushnell said.

During a public comment period, representatives of several health advocacy groups vouched for doing an ordinance.

Lisa Ollivier, chair of the Humboldt Allies for Substance Use Prevention group, is particularly alarmed about availability of flavored products.

“As a parent, my son comes home appalled and he’ll tell me all the time about what he’s seen and what his friends are being able to have access to,” she said.

Bushnell noted that the board discussion and public comment focused on flavored products and she said the board could “look at that first” with an ordinance.

Supervisor Rex Bohn agreed, saying, “I’m having a hard time going after regular tobacco.” He asked for outreach to retailers.

“I don’t think any of them consider themselves merchants of death,” Bohn said.

After saying that tobacco products are “terrible for the health of our community,” Wilson made a motion to direct staff to bring back a draft ordinance for consideration. That got unanimous board approval.

Pereira was also asked to do outreach to cities on enacting similar ordinances and to get feedback from retailers. Wilson said he’s talked with Arcata and Eureka councilmembers and “they’re positive on it.”

According to a written staff report, not doing an ordinance would “result in youth continuing to access tobacco in the retail environment and a projected increase in tobacco-related mortality.”

Drury Pkwy closed for Hike and Bike Day

REDWOOD NATIONAL AND STATE PARKS

RNSP – From October through May, on the first Saturday of the month, Redwood National and State Parks will close the Newton B. Drury Scenic Parkway in Prairie Creek Redwoods State Park to all motorized vehicles as part of the annual Hike and Bike Day.

Closing the 10-mile through route to motorized vehicles provides an opportunity for park visitors to experience the parkway without the noise and sounds of cars and trucks. Come explore by foot, bicycle, skateboard, rollerblades or any other non-motorized vehicle. Dogs-on-leash are also welcome on the parkway, although they are prohibited on the trails for the safety of pets and wildlife.

Please stop by any Redwood National and State Park visitor center for current conditions and to find other opportunities to enjoy your parks. Explore more at the Redwood National and State Park website at: www.nps.gov/redw. Be sure to download the new NPS App, currently available through the Apple App Store and Google Play.

MARSH TOUR Friends of the Arcata Marsh (FOAM) is sponsoring a free tour of the Arcata Marsh & Wildlife Sanctuary on Saturday, Sept. 10. Meet leader Barbara Reisman at 2 p.m. in the lobby of the Interpretive Center on South G Street for a 90-minute, rain-or-shine walk focusing on plants and/or marsh ecology. Masks are recommended but not required inside the building, regardless of COVID vaccination status. (707) 826-2359.

SOHUM BIRDWATCHING Join Redwood Region Audubon Society for a morning bird walk along the South Fork Eel River and Southern Humboldt Community Park on Saturday, Sept. 10, 8:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. Trip leader Ann Constantino will focus on riparian species and look for migrants who might use the abundant food resources that riparian areas can provide. Email Andrew.RRAS@gmail.com for details or just show up at Tooby Memorial Park to join us.

MARSH BIRDWATCHING Join Redwood Region Audubon Society for a free guided field trip at the Arcata Marsh and Wildlife Sanctuary on Saturday, Sept. 10, 8:30 to 11 a.m. Bring your binoculars and meet trip leader Kathryn Wendel at the end of South I Street (Klopp Lake) in Arcata for easy to walk trails and a diverse range of shorebirds, songbirds, raptors, and waders. September marks the beginning of many migrants’ journeys so come enjoy the migratory behaviors and feeding frenzies that will likely be encountered.

BIRDING TOUR AT REFUGE Redwood Region Audubon Society will offer a free guided birding tour at Humboldt Bay National Wildlife Refuge on Sunday, Sept. 11, from 9 to 11 a.m. Meet leader Ralph Bucher at the Visitor Center for this two-mile walk along a wide, flat trail that is packed gravel and easily accessible. Email Ralph to sign up at thebook@reninet.com.

Dunes | FOD ‘responsive’

horse riders access to the beach. The other, only for hikers, will provide dune access, connecting to the Coastal Nature Center area.

Restoration work will include removal of invasive plants, done by hand.

The commission’s approval caps an uneasy process that began in 2015. Some residents of the area opposed the closure of the so-called “user-created” trails and claimed that removal of invasive plants will de-stabilize dunes.

During a 2018 hearing, one resident told the commission that FOD had “run amok” and needed to be reined in. The opposition included a warning letter from an attorney.

But the county deemed the criticisms to be unfounded and at last week’s public comment period, most of the voices were in support of FOD and its plans.

Mike Cipra, FOD’s executive director, said the invasive plants removal will be done by “trained volunteers going out with a restoration manager, so by definition it’s community-supported.”

Development supporting the trails will be minimal and consist of things like signage, Cipra continued. He said the group has worked with neighbors and changed its plans in response, such as taking out development of a fence.

Past controversy included FOD’s failure to meet the monitoring and reporting requirements of its current permit.

IMAGES VIA COUNTY OF HUMBOLDT

Planning Director John Ford said that was an issue “early on” but “that had been corrected and it’s much more of a regular and cyclical event that’s occurring.”

Aside from some concern about parking near the trailhead area, commissioners were enthused about FOD’s project.

Commissioner Melanie McCavour said FOD is “doing a really good job” and believes “we should give them the opportunity to show how great this type of restoration can be.”

Commissioner Noah Levy agreed. He acknowledged that the permitting “has had a pretty rough run coming before our commission a couple of times” but said FOD has responded effectively.

Levy said the group addressed the county’s and the neighbors’ concerns “to an exemplary extent” and have produced a top-notch access, conservation and restoration plan.

But Commission Chair Alan Bongio said lack of a dedicated trailhead parking issue is “a huge issue that needs to be addressed,” particularly considering the equestrian element.

Other commissioners were satisfied with Cipra’s explanation that parking is available at the adjacent Coastal Nature Center. They approved the permitting with a 5-1 vote, with Bongio voting against.

Energetic Trinidad never stands still

Trinidad Civic Club's first in-person meeting for two years, due to the coronavirus, last week was all about gratitude for the unseen work that so many club members accomplish without fanfare through the years, and looking forward for a richly rewarding fall, winter and spring schedule.

Co-Presidents Dana Hope and Jan West welcomed new members Marsha Hughes, Emily May, Cammie Anderson and Michele Francesconi and acknowledged contributions of energy and time already contributed, especially by Marsha Hughes. Dana talked about the "It Matters" CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates for children) continuing efforts to raise awareness, and funds, for this essential county effort to address the advocacy for at least 29 area children who have experienced some rough times in their lives

Dana pointed out that Team Trinidad has raised over $30,500 in the six years Trinidad Civic Club has been involved with the program. If you wish to join the Trinidad Club team, email info@humboldtcasa.org or register on line at humboldtcasa.org.

Jan West invited members and guests to participate in the Alzheimer's Walk on October 8. The Club began being involved in Alzheimer's awareness when Katy's Smokehouse owner Bob Lake lost his wife, Judy, from Alzheimer's and other Trinidad families have related their experiences. Scholarship committee chairman Martha Davis with committee members Katrin Homan and Marsha Hughes, told of the recent academic and vocational scholarships and the communications from past recipients who expressed gratitude on how the Club's and donors' contributions and encouragement have made a significant difference in their academic and training work.

The calendar for 2022-2023 was set to include a new project and program on the Hunter Nathaniel Lewis Locator Beacon Project, named for the 21-year student who died at the close of last year in a kayak accident. The project will involve making locator mechanisms available to bay or sea-going kayakers, surfers, boaters or others who if they encounter an emergency may be able to be located by wearing this device. There will be more information to come on this project and other Trinidad Civic Club monthly programs and projects.

Engraving names at the Trinidad Bay Memorial Park Memorial Wall will continue. Applications to engrave the name of a loved one Lost at Sea or Buried at Sea will be accepted starting in January 2023. The cost for one name is $1,500. Go to trinidadcivicclub.org for an application or email baycity@sonic.net for more information.

The Club meeting included Singing Happy Birthday to September birthday Club members Michelle McHenry, Katherine Wayne, Marsha Hughes, Dana Hope, Kathleen Duncan, Lynda Moran and Gail Saunders. Wellness wishes cards to Barbara Rips and Betty Ferniz were signed and sent by corresponding secretary Penne O'Gara. Barbara Cline, Janine Volkmar, Diane Cohan, Sharon Ferrett, Martha Sue Davis, Marsha Hughes and Katrin Homan all were praised by the Club leadership for their participation and assistance with Trinidad Bay Art and Music Festival, Trinidad Art Night and other recent activities.

Full Cycle Compost rocking the Earth Tubs at Bayside Park Farm

FULL CYCLE COMPOST
BAYSIDE – Full Cycle Compost is now collaborating with the City of Arcata to utilize their Earth Tub composting systems at Bayside Park Farm.

The Earth Tubs have been idle since the pandemic began, and the city is happy to see them put to good use again.

The Earth Tubs will build soil for Bayside Park Farm by recycling food scraps from the Community Center, the Foodworks building, Arcata Farmers Market, and the Bayside/Sunny Brae customers of Full Cycle Compost.

Isaac West, a worker-owner at Full Cycle said, "This collaborative agreement arrived just in time. The volume of food waste from the Arcata Farmers Market and our residential customers was starting to overload our compost system at the Redwood Coast Montessori Community Garden. We're happy to see our community step up to keep this precious resource out of the landfill."

The agreement between Full Cycle Compost and the City of Arcata is a trade, making it a real win-win. The City of Arcata has been itching to start composting again for its senior lunch program at the Community Center, the Foodworks building, and their upcoming summer camps, and this collaboration has provided a no-cost way to make that happen.

Full Cycle Compost is a worker-owned, bicycle-powered composting company. The company was incubated in the Cooperation Humboldt and North Coast Small Business Development Center's Worker Owned Humboldt program.

They serve residential and commercial customers in Arcata, and their Certified Organics Composting (COR) program provides no-cost consultations for local businesses to comply with California's new composting law, SB-1383.

Full Cycle Compost manages compost systems at Jardin Santuario, Redwood Coast Montessori Community Garden, Jacoby Creek Land Trust and now Bayside Park Farm. For more information, visit fullcyclecompost.com.

Share thoughts at CED Roadshow

COUNTY OF HUMBOLDT
HUMBOLDT – The County of Humboldt wants to hear from you during an in-person CEDS Roadshows and share your thoughts on how to develop economic growth in Humboldt County.
Every five years, the county develops a Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy, also known as CEDS. The CEDS is our county’s framework to grow a diverse and thriving economy, outline a plan for regional resilience and improve the quality of life for everyone who lives in Humboldt.
This is a technical document required to attract federal funding and technical assistance. It is also a proactive and collaborative strategy for driving economic growth, balancing equity and ensuring environmental sustainability.
Economic development is the strategic ways in which our government, businesses, and citizens work together to help our community prosper. In the past, and in many ongoing and systemic ways, economic development happened at the expense of marginalized communities and the environment. But we are committed to finding ways to help grow our local economy in ways that balance equity and protect the environment. Share insights and ideas on the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats our county is facing.

Mosquitos: how to thwart their bloodlust

HUMBOLDT DEH
HUMBOLDT – Recently, the Humboldt County Department of Health & Human Services, Division of Environmental Health (DEH) has received an increased number of public inquiries about mosquitoes in and around Humboldt Bay and coastal areas.
According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), taking the following precautions is the best way to avoid mosquitoes and mosquito bites.
• Remove standing water where mosquitoes breed
• Mosquitoes lay eggs near and on the surface of water and health officials recommend taking time each week to empty and scrub, turn over or cover or dispose of items that hold water like tires, buckets, planters, toys, pools, birdbaths, flowerpot saucers or trash containers
• Tightly cover water storage containers (buckets, water tanks and rain barrels) so mosquitoes cannot get inside to lay eggs
• For containers without lids, use wire mesh/screens with holes smaller than an adult mosquito
• Fill tree holes to prevent them from filling with water
• If you have a septic tank, repair cracks or gaps. Cover open vent or plumbing pipes with wire mesh/screens with holes smaller than an adult mosquito • Mosquito fish can be used in ornamental ponds, watering troughs and abandoned pools.

Mosquito prevention in the home
• Ensure doors, windows, vents and other penetrations are properly screened
• Do not leave doors propped open
• Visually inspect for mosquitoes before bed. Check ceilings, closets, windows and curtains where mosquitoes tend to hide.
According to the CDC, one of the best ways to avoid mosquito bites is to stay inside at dawn and dusk when insects are most active. People who are going to be outside during those times are advised to wear long-sleeved shirts, long pants, shoes and socks.
Certain species of mosquitoes are known to harbor and spread West Nile Virus (WNV) which has been observed in Humboldt County in the past. Since 2003, there have been a total of four reported cases of WNV, the most recent from 2018. Despite the apparent low risk, DEH recommends Humboldt County residents follow the above guidelines to prevent overpopulation of mosquitoes and prevent mosquito bites.

HUMBOLDT COUNTY SHERIFF’S OFFICE
EUREKA – On Sunday, Aug. 28 at about 6:27 a.m., Humboldt County Sheriff’s deputies on patrol in the county’s jurisdiction of Eureka observed a vehicle parked in the middle of the roadway on the 2900 block of O’Neil Lane. Deputies contacted two women standing in the roadway near the vehicle.
Deputies recognized one of the women from previous law enforcement contacts as 56-year-old Nonie Annette Bishop, who was wanted on outstanding misdemeanor warrants.
During a search of Bishop’s vehicle incident to arrest, deputies located approximately 2.42 ounces of crystal methamphetamine, items consistent with the sale of controlled substances, drug paraphernalia and burglary tools.
Bishop was arrested and booked into the Humboldt County Correctional Facility on charges of possession of a controlled substance for sales and possession of burglary tools, in addition to warrant charges of petty theft, possession of a controlled substance and driving with a suspended license.
Anyone with information about this case or related criminal activity is encouraged to call the Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office at (707) 445-7251 or the Sheriff’s Office Crime Tip line at (707) 268-2539.

HCDTF
EUREKA – In early August of 2022 the Humboldt County Drug Task Force (HCDTF) initiated an investigation into Luis Alberto Valenzuela-Pardo, 30, from Culiacan, Sinaloa Mexico, for distribution of heroin and methamphetamine in Humboldt County.
On Aug. 31 HCDTF agents with the assistance of the Eureka Police Department (EPD) and Humboldt County Sheriff’s Office (HCSO) made a traffic stop on Valenzuela-Pardo in the 3300 block of Broadway Street in Eureka. Valenzuela-Pardo was detained without incident.
HCDTF Agents served a search warrant on the vehicle and located about three ounces of heroin and three ounces of methamphetamine.
Agents then responded to Valenzuela-Pardo’s residence in the 400 block of P Street in Eureka and served the search warrant on a bedroom that Valenzuela-Pardo rented at the house. Agents located about one pound of methamphetamine, one pound of heroin, and eight grams of cocaine in the bedroom.

Agents also located a digital scale, packaging materials and about $5,000 in U.S. currency.
Valenzuela-Pardo was transported to the Humboldt County Jail where he was booked on charges of:
• Possession of heroin/cocaine for sale
• Transportation of heroin for sale
• Possession of methamphetamine for sale
• Transportation of methamphetamine for sale
• Operating or maintaining a drug house
Anyone with information related to this investigation or other narcotics related crimes are encouraged to call the Humboldt County Drug Task Force at (707) 267-9976.

Help Home Away From Home help students with the basics of survival

Dear Home Away From Home Supporters and Volunteers,

Home Away from Home is once again preparing to welcome Cal Poly, College of the Redwoods and Dell'Arte students back to our community this fall with a free meal and supplies distribution.

Seeking to nourish positive feelings of inclusion and belonging, on September 11 we will be providing each student with a take away hot meal catered by Taqueria La Barca and a bag of non-perishable food, household and personal care items.

Sadly, racism has not gone away in the world, our nation or in this community. In recent months the Eureka/Arcata area has experienced a number of racist incidents, and we at the Home Away From Home Working Group feel more strongly than ever that we must continue to strive for a more equitable and inclusive community.

All students are invited to our Home Away From Home events, but our target audience is students of color who are most at risk of experiencing discrimination and racial incidents in our community.

This year there is a group of Cal Poly students that we are particularly concerned about who are being housed in motel rooms in Valley West, miles from campus, with only microwave ovens and small refrigerators in their rooms. We are actively reaching out to invite these students to our event so that they are made to feel the warmth and inclusion (not to mention full stomachs) that we seek to provide.

❖ LETTER OF THE WEEK

While the La Barca hot meal is being paid for with a generous grant from the Co-op Community Fund, we are once again asking you as community member to help us fill the "Free Stuff" bags.

Here's what we need from you:

- Donations of either free goods for the "free stuff" bags or money to help purchase the items needed.
- Non-perishable food items that (for the Valley West students), can be microwaved
- No past expiration date foods

please!).

- Household items and cleaning supplies such as disinfecting wipes, dish soap, paper towels, surface cleaners and sponges.
- Personal care items and toiletries such as hand soap, toothpaste, toothbrushes, shampoo and conditioner.

All donated items must be new, unused and unopened. We can only accept the items listed above.

Donations may be dropped off at the Arcata City Hall lobby between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., from Tuesday, Sept. 6 through Friday Sept. 9.

If you would like to donate money rather than goods to help us fill the "Free Stuff" bags, please make a check out to the City Of Arcata with the words "Home Away From Home" in the memo line and mail it or drop it off at the Arcata City Manager's Office, 736 F St., Arcata.

We are so grateful for your continuing generosity and you willingness to support our mission of equity and inclusion. Thank you!

Please feel free to reach out with any questions or concerns. For more information you can call (707) 822-5953.

Sincerely,

Add color and vibrancy

Housing in Humboldt. It's on everyone's mind, and Arcata may be a focal point. Cal Poly Humboldt (CPH) is projecting a 50 percent growth within three years, and a 100 percent growth within seven years. With about 6,000 students today, we are looking to add 3-6,000 people to the local population. And this doesn't consider all the climate change migrants that will happen upon Humboldt County. So beautiful and cool, we were bound to be discovered.

The City of Arcata has been studying the "Gateway" project – the redevelopment of important properties in the City, properties close to downtown, reasonably close to the university. I support some element of this development idea, I see that we could use our property better, for greater uses – and like the idea of retail on the first floor, and apartments above. Gaudi did it beautifully in Barcelona, Spain. Can we be as creative? Eight stories on a mudflat? Probably not.

Maybe we can think wider. I'm thinking about all of Arcata, and beyond.

Last year, California passed Senate Bill 9. This bill allows for single family lot-owners to build two primary units, and two accessory dwelling units on their property, plus they have the right to subdivide a single-family lot.

"Senate Bill 9 – the California Housing Opportunity and More Efficiency (HOME) Act streamlines the process for a homeowner to create a duplex or subdivide an existing lot. To be eligible for the streamlining provided by this bill, a parcel must meet a specific list of qualifications that protects historic districts, preserves the environmental quality and the look of communities, and prevents tenants from being displaced. Homeowners must comply with local zoning requirements when developing a duplex (height, floor area ratios, lot coverage, etc.) as long as they do not physically preclude a duplex."

Let's imagine that Arcata homeowners and CPH embrace this idea. Instead of over bidding on property (5.4 million for 16 acres of undeveloped land) to build big apartment structures, we could have a local housing program. I'm playing with numbers here for illustration, but imagine the University had a program that offered local single family lot owners $50,000 to build a duplex on their property. CPH could have a few architect-designed options to fit into the local neighborhoods. This would be a legally agreed upon relationship between the landowner and the University that these duplexes are for CPH students for some given number of years.

I live in Sunnybrae, and as I walk around it's crosses my mind that this neighborhood could have double the population. If students lived in duplexes spread around the town, they would be integrated into the population. Their vehicles, if they bring them, could more easily be parked in the neighborhoods. The local bus system would be more robust, as there are more people to ride.

Moving students into big apartment buildings in Arcata, surrounded by many people from big cities will not allow young people to truly experience the beauty and culture of the North Coast. Cultural differences in a concentrated form will be more difficult to appreciate, whereas cultural differences in small measures will add color and vibrancy to the neighborhoods.

Abandoning standards

While the Deciders (Planco and the City Council) were busy voting on the issue of building height limits in the various Gateway neighborhoods-to-be, Cal Poly announced the actual thing, or things, two seven-story buildings that will be built at the Craftsman Mall, designed in the Institutional Style that they seem to think fits a school building anywhere anytime, whether it's 1952 or 2025. (My grammar school in San Diego looked like them.)

They did not ask the Deciders for approval. They didn't have to. They are the state.

All this makes the discussion of building height limits a moot point. Tall buildings are coming to Arcata, whether you hate 'em or love 'em.

And so is growth, not because the state requires it and the city better make its contribution or else, but because there is an obvious housing shortage in California and Arcata is eager to do its part to help relieve some of that pressure.

The small, medium or big argument may best be tabled for the time being because we can't seem to agree. The critical issue for Gateway should be, it seems to me, to streamline the approval process for new buildings that will deliver the kind of architecture that fits Arcata and furthers the housing supply. This could be done with a form-based code or not. I say let's leave the four-story height limit as the standard for now. If a developer comes in with a design for a taller building, the issue could be addressed at the time in concrete terms, instead of trying to determine in advance what can and cannot be built.

So what is the "kind of architecture that fits Arcata?" One thing it isn't is the institutional style which Cal Poly succumbed to for the new buildings at the Craftsman Mall, after producing those lovely Mediterranean-style dorms at College Creek a few years ago. Shame on them for abandoning a signature style for Humboldt that does credit to its history and fits well with the architecture of its original building, Founders Hall.

Let's answer the state with a style of buildings in Arcata that look like they belong, buildings that fit the site, improve the neighborhood, nod to the existing buildings around them and project beauty in their outward features. Let's not follow the example of the pug-uglies and propagate new housing because we're in a hurry. Good buildings take time to plan and to build. We can do that.

Nightmare incoming

For the most part, I am impressed by Arcata's Gateway Area Plan.

Nevertheless, aspects of it worry me. I saw a video many months ago, when the plan was first publicized, in which its director mentioned his staff's "creative approach" to the development. It assumed that only one parking space would be necessary for every three adult residents. He suggested that people could use other forms of transportation around town: walking, bikes, shared cars, etc.

This, I fear, is pie-in-the-sky wishful thinking.

Take a look right now at the corner of Alliance and 27th Street. One can see the "in-fill" outcome that such a "creative approach" produces. This housing development, approved by city planners, features a series of dwellings, each with a number of bedrooms.

rooms, and, in addition, "Grammar Units" in the back. The problem is, there were very few parking spaces included in the plan. Far less than the expected number of people living in those houses. The result is an ugly hodgepodge of vehicles sprawled out front, crowding the street and covering what were intended to be lawns. I can only imagine how the rest of our town will look should all of the city's "infill" dreams come true!

A lack of parking spaces, of course, is only one aspect of the problem. There will also be major traffic congestion caused by the downtown infill. Imagine what it will look like with another 1,000 cars. That should be foreseen, not ignored.

We cannot pretend that people will ride their bikes or walk just because city planners hope they will. Plain and simple, people want their own cars, and will park them wherever they can. That is still the norm in this country, and has to be expected.

Plain and simple, people want their own cars and will park them wherever they can. Until there is a massive infrastructure change (new-age buses, high-speed rail, and more) which makes traveling away from town convenient, the plan as presently conceived will lead to overcrowded streets and a parking nightmare. That's what's going to happen.

While I support a well-designed plan to re-build the Gateway Area, it should be done in a way to benefit those who live here now. We should keep Arcata a place where people love to live.

Please add your name to this list requesting a Gateway Plan Advisory Committee be established: arcatagatewaycommunityaction@gmail.com.

Thank you.

Media transparency

The letter "In Search of Angie C" (Union, Aug.24) could also be titled "In Search of LoCO Comment Policies," since it appears that the Lost Coast Outpost does not have any. They provide guidance for submitting events to the Lowdown, for obituaries and for advertising, but no rules or guidelines for their comment section. Without rules, there is no way to determine if there is a legitimate reason for certain comments to be deleted and accounts blocked.

What is the appropriate role of comment moderators? Should they remain mostly in the background and monitor comments for adherence to the rules, or should they be full-throated participants in debates, with the special power of making rebuttals to their own arguments disappear?

Their website says "the Outpost is the place people go to get information about what is happening in Humboldt County, or to talk about what is happening in Humboldt County." Should the moderator live in Humboldt County? Does the current moderator live here?

When LoCO (hopefully) develops rules for their comment section, will they be the same for everyone, or will there be special rules for political candidates and their supporters and opponents? If someone thinks they have been unfairly blocked, can they appeal?

The Lost Coast Outpost provides a forum where our community can exchange ideas and criticism, argue and joke. Public trust in the media is at an all-time low. Transparency is very important for maintaining whatever trust is left.

New head of training at Dell'Arte

DELL'ARTE INTERNATIONAL

BLUE LAKE – Dell'Arte International School of Physical Theater is pleased to announce Tony Fuemmeler as the school's new interim head of training programs for this year's Professional Training Program (PTP). Tony succeeds Sheila Bandyopadhyay, who departed from the school this past May to take a "dream job" position at Shakespeare & Company, located in Lenox Massachusetts, as the head of training programs.

For the last 16 years, Tony has worked in multiple theater's in Portland, Oregon, as well as on stages across the country and abroad. He is an alum of Dell'Arte's PTP program, an award-winning mask maker, and has taught many courses on mask creation and performance at Dell'Arte over the years. Tony is also the co-founder of a Teaching Artist Studio in Portland, where he facilitated professional development for artists who wish to translate their professional experience or craft into teaching. Most recently, Tony taught alongside Julie Douglas, head of arts engagement at Dell'Arte, during the school's Summer Intensive Program, a three-week physical theatre intensive that draws students from across the country.

At the core of Dell'Arte's training program is an exploration of how theater is created through the body of the actor in an ensemble-based approach and process. "My goal is to provide the best student experience in this rigorous program," said Fuemmeler, "Dell'Arte is surrounded by such a wealth of natural resources with mountains, rivers, and the ocean...nature continues to be a strong inspiration for the work."

"We will continue to promote trust-based engagement through our partnerships with the Wiyot Tribe, nearby rural communities, and local businesses to deliver an empowering year of learning," says Fuemmeler of the school's ongoing commitment to exploring Community-based Arts engagement and service as an integral part of their training as a theater artist.

"The school's commitment to diverse, equitable and inclusive theater is reflected in the content of the training, which incorporates cross-cultural competency and anti-racism," he adds, "our job is to build on the strengths students bring with them to Blue Lake and shape strongly embodied actors who can deliver a clear point of view to their audiences. We are confident that students will carry this training with them in their professional careers for the rest of their lives and can't wait to show you what this year's Professional Training Program students create during their stay in Blue Lake."

Natural Fiber Fair this weekend in Arcata

NATURAL FIBER FAIR

ARCATA – On Saturday, Sept. 10 and Sunday, Sept. 11, fiber enthusiasts will gather for the 32nd annual Natural Fiber Fair at the Arcata Community Center. After a two year hiatus, the Natural Fiber Fair will be live and in-person. There will be ongoing demonstrations of spinning, knitting, felting, weaving, and dyeing, half and full day workshops, and vendors selling fleeces, fibers, yarns and tools. If you are interested in learning fiber handcrafts, there are demos and classes every hour for free or for a small fee that can get you started. Topics include crochet, felting, and rug hooking.

Inside the vendor hall you will find beautiful creations such as felted hats and handwoven scarves, unique handmade garments, and lusciously dyed yarns and rovings.

Featured natural fibers include silk, cotton, wool, angora, and more. Locally produced wool fleeces are on display at the Fleece Market. Tools of the trade such as spinning wheels, knitting needles, and books are available from many booths, and used items can be bought and sold at the Used Equipment Exchange.

Registration is now open for half and full day workshops. The lineup of instructors includes Ayala Talpai with Needle Felting, Crystal Estelle with Handspinning, Linda Hartshorn with Warp Painting and Rigid Heddle Weaving with Michelle Benson. More workshops and details are listed at naturalfiberfair.com.

Admission to the Natural Fiber Fair is free. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 10, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 11.

For more information, visit naturalfiberfair.com, check out the Facebook page, or call (707) 599-2729.

ROLLER SKATING SOUL PARTY Arcata Main Street, Soul Party, Northtown Coffee and Arcata Theatre Lounge bring you a free, funky, family-friendly Roller Skating Event on the Plaza like no other! The Plaza will be closed Sunday, Sept. 11 from noon to 4 p.m. for a family friendly skating event around the Plaza with funky classic groove music by Dj Red, Dj Funky T-Rex, Philly Fresh, Dacin and Chill Will "Soul Party Crew." There will be a BBQ and snacks. Sponsorships are available at $100, $200, $500 Full VIP Package and $750 Picnic Package with a VIP Zone. Sponsorships and benefits may be customized; new ideas welcome; in-kind sponsorships are welcome! BOOK SIGNING IN ARCATA Michael Kauffmann and Justin Garwood co-edited a new work titled The Klamath Mountains: A Natural History with the help of 32 other authors. Experts in all aspects of the region's natural history came together and are the first to tell the entire story. Kauffmann and Garwood will be signing books on Friday, Sept. 9 from 5 to 8 p.m. at Northtown Books, 957 H St. in Arcata. On Wednesday, Oct. 12, Kauffmann will be giving a presentation for the North Coast Chapter of the California Native Plant Society at 7 p.m. at the Masonic Lodge in Arcata. For more information about the book, visit backcountrypress.com.

THE CIRCUS IS COMING The Flynn Creek Circus will perform in Arcata with multiple shows from Thursday, Sept. 15 to Sunday, Sept. 18 next to Mad River Community Hospital at the big top tent at 3800 Janes Rd. in Arcata. For information and tickets, visit flynncreekcircus.com.

ART GRANTS Humboldt County artists and craftspeople are encouraged to submit grant applications for the 2022 Victor Thomas Jacoby Award, which includes $10,000 in funding for four recipients. Each fall, local artists can apply for the award – sponsored by Humboldt Area Foundation and Wild Rivers Community Foundation – by submitting examples of their work and vision for innovating and pushing their art to the next level. Applications will now through Nov. 1 and can be found online at hafoundation.org/Grants1. For more information about this grant email grants@hafoundation.org or call (707) 442-2993.

SALLY VIOLA CAREY
aka VIOLA CAREY
A Petition for Probate
has been filed by DIANA CAMPBELL in the Superior Court of California,
County of HUMBOLDT.

The Petition for Probate requests that: DIANA CAMPBELL be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests
authority to administer
the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take any actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration
authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows
good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as

COURT MAY BE CLOSED TO THE PUBLIC
DUE TO THE COVID-19 PANDEMIC. PLEASE VISIT https://www.humboldt.courts.ca.gov FOR INFORMATION ON HOW TO PARTICIPATE IN AN ONLINE VIDEO HEAR-ING.

If you object to the granting of the petition,
you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court
within the later of either
(1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code,
or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice
under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets
or of any petition or ac-

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ES-TATE OF

WESLEY WATKINS
CASE NO.: PR2200252
To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of:

WESLEY WATKINS
A Petition for Probate
has been filed by CURT WATKINS in the Superior Court of California, County of HUMBOLDT.

The Petition for Probate requests that: CURT WATKINS be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

The petition requests
the decedents will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The petition requests
authority to administer
the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take any actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative
will be required to give notice to interested persons
unless they have waived
notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration
authority will be granted
unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows
good cause why the court
should not grant the authority.

A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows:

Date: SEPT. 15, 2022
Time: 1:31 PM
Dept.: 6

Address of court: Superior Court of California,
County of Humboldt, 825
Fifth Street, Eureka, CA, 95501.

COURT MAY BE

If you object to the
granting of the petition,
you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written
objections with the court
before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

If you are a creditor or
a contingent creditor of
the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to
the personal representative appointed by the court
within the later of either
(1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code,
or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice
under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.
Other California statutes
and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and
appraisal of estate assets
or of any petition or ac-

Mad River Brewery wins more prestigious awards

MAD RIVER BREWERY
BLUE LAKE — Tribally owned Mad River Brewery is celebrating a series of wins this week as the United States Beer Tasting Championship (USBTC) has announced the national and regional winners in the Summer 2022 competition. For the California region, the brewery took first in a whopping four categories — a clear distinguishment, ranking the brewery among the best of the best in the state.

Mad River Brewery was noted for the following brews in their respective categories: Steelhead Extra Pale Ale, (Golden Ale/Kolsch) Historic State Park IPA, (Pale Ale) Jamaica Red Ale, (Amber/Red Ale)

and Slammin' Salmon, (Imperial IPA/Red Ale). This isn't the first time the brewery has won awards with the USBTC. Less than a year ago, in the Winter 2021-2022 competition, Mad River Brewery received recognition in four categories as well, including different vintages of their John Barleycorn and Barleywine, as well as their Redwood Stout and Union-town Porter. This win marks the first regional award for the brewery's most recent release, Historic State Park IPA. The brewery, teaming up with the California State Parks, named the beer in honor of a first-of-its-kind partnership between the Yurok Tribe and California State Parks in a co-management effort of the Stone Lagoon Visitor Center, part of Humboldt Lagoons State Park. The endeavor has redefined the relationship between tribes and state parks. The promotion of the product has been a vehicle for awareness and change in the channels it reaches. The beer, one of three recently made available in San Francisco Giants' Oracle Park, is sharing a story with a wide audience, and highlighting the State Park, one of the singularly most stunning and biologically diverse places on the redwood coast. "The success of this beer directly benefits the State Park, calling attention to an important endeavor and investing into the park," said Linda Cooley, Mad River Brewery CEO. "Not only the quality and craft, but the story behind our individual products is a reason for their desirability. When sharing our portfolio with both the Giants and the Barracuda, certain products stood out for their environmental and social impact." (The brewery, in June, announced a second professional sports partnership in 2022, with the San Jose Barracuda, the affiliate team of the San Jose Sharks.) The microbrew, a deep golden hued IPA that boasts bold citrus aromas, tropical fruit flavors and subtly bitter, malty finish, is now available in 12oz cans, 19.2oz cans, 5.6-gallon cylinders and 15.5-gallon kegs. Other ales in the lineup have won various notable awards— flagship Steelhead Pale Ale has won two Gold and two Silver Medals at the Great American Beer Festival, and two Bronze awards at the World Beer Cup. Jamaica Red Ale is a Silver Medal Winner at the Great American Beer Festival and Slammin' Salmon Double Imperial Pale Ale was a regional winner in the USBTC in summer of 2021.

About Mad River Brewery

Mad River Brewery, a women-led Independent Craft Brewery located in Humboldt County, California has been brewing best-quality beers for more than three decades. MRB employs a time-honored, cut-no-corners approach to hand-crafting the finest quality ales, receiving four Gold Medals, four Silver Medals and one Bronze Medal from the Great American Beer Festival, which offers the most prestigious awards in the industry. Paving the way for a new Native American category in craft beer, the Tribal Brewery, owned by the Yurok Tribe, has introduced new products that promote the decades-long fight for environmental restoration and justice. Mad River Brewery is committed to producing the best-quality beverages on the planet and continues to employ the most holistic brewing methods to craft products that are in a league of their own.

A weekly newspaper is a general-news or current affairs publication that is issued once or twice a week... and often covers smaller territories, such as one or more smaller towns, a rural county, or a few neighborhoods in a large city.
